SPOTLIGHT ON JEWISH VOCATIONAL SERVICE

“I’ve learned more about cars and engineering. We had people come in who are actual professional engineers and in the business. We’re learning about engineering program opportunities—how it works, how it functions and how it may benefit you in the future.”

—Sofia

The STEM Automotive Technology program of Jewish Vocational Service (JVS) provides contextualized skill development and work-based learning in partnership with Washington High School and the SFUSD Office of College & Career Readiness, preparing its students for careers in automotive maintenance, machining and other related paths. Transforming lives by helping people build skills and find work to achieve self-sufficiency, JVS knows how to help people find good, living wage jobs. Their programs focus on industries that are hiring and can offer career path jobs, such as healthcare, technology, and utilities. They’ve developed Career Pathway programs in partnership with Bay Area employers to connect people to in-demand skills, paid work experience and robust job search skills. JVS prepares jobseekers to re-enter the workforce, and works with high school students to explore career options and succeed in the world of work.

SPOTLIGHT ON PROJECT AVARY

“ We talk about how it hurts us not having your parent there. It’s just nice to vent because there’s certain people who understand. They care about me and what I’m going through. When you finish telling your story, we show love. We raise our hands and wiggle our fingers in the air, so everybody is just sending love. ”
—Michelle C.

Project Avary is a year-round program tailored to meet the unique emotional needs of children with a parent in prison. Starting from the ages of 8-11, Project Avary makes a long-term 10-year commitment to each child and family. Summer camp, family camp, and monthly weekend wilderness outings use the curative powers of the outdoors to introduce children to a diversity of experiences and perspectives, build resilience and self-confidence, and develop important leadership and life skills. Community elders offer weekly 1-1 mentoring to youth, providing key social and emotional support and guidance. At age 14, teens go through a wilderness rite of passage to mark their transition from camper to teen leader—the teen program focuses on job training as outdoor junior counselors. Peace Makers is the teen restorative justice group, where youth go into prisons around California to teach parenting classes focused on healing the generational dynamics of incarceration.

SPOTLIGHT ON CHINESE PROGRESSIVE ASSOCIATION

“ This program is like a second family to me. The people here are accepting of who I am. I’m able to talk about topics that I wouldn’t be able to talk about at school with my friends or with my family. It’s a safe space where I can get my thoughts and emotions out. ”

—Michelle L.

The Common Roots Youth Organizer Program is a joint project of Chinese Progressive Association (CPA) and People Organizing to Demand Environmental and Economic Rights (PODER). Founded in 1998 as a collaborative summer leadership program serving low-income Chinese and Latino youth in San Francisco, it has since expanded to a full year program. Youth leaders work together to develop cross-cultural solidarity, deepened understanding of social and political issues impacting their communities, and further leadership and organizing skills through an intensive environmental and economic justice leadership development program engaging youth in grassroots, direct action campaigns and movement building. CPA educates, organizes and empowers the low income and working class immigrant Chinese community in San Francisco to build collective power with other oppressed communities to demand better living and working conditions and justice for all people.

SPOTLIGHT ON SUNSET YOUTH SERVICES

“ I always feel welcomed here. I’m not really welcomed in too many areas, sometimes not even at home, but over here I’m always welcomed. It’s home. There are people I’ve known my entire life that I don’t feel close to like I do at Sunset Youth Services. Having staff go with me to court, and other appointments make such a big difference. They do the things that families do. ”

—Treezy

Sunset Youth Services’ mission is to foster long-term stability and growth for high-risk youth and families through caring relationships and supportive services, based on the belief that youth are inherently worthy of dignity and respect and have the potential to positively contribute to their communities when their real needs are met. Valued and respected as important partners, youth begin to recognize their own power and self-efficacy, dream about the future, and work toward independence, education, and employment. SYS’s case-managed Justice Services program supports justice-involved youth in breaking patterns of violence, meeting probation requirements and court mandates, achieving stability, and reaching educational and employment goals. SYS brings its mobile recording studio into Juvenile Hall to provide digital arts training, where music creates the draw, relationships build the bridge, and, upon release, employment opportunities and ongoing support help these young people positively re-engage with their communities.

SPOTLIGHT ON PROJECT LEVEL

“ I wouldn’t be the person I am today without Project Level. I’ve always had these goals, but I wouldn’t be able to execute them without Danielle and Rich pushing me, the family aspect of Project Level, and the courage it’s given me. It’s given me a long list and resume to let me know this is what I’m going to be doing for the rest of my life. There’s no place I’d rather be. ”

—Jasmin

In San Francisco, youth are enthralled by the arts. Everything from their lifestyle to the way they dress is influenced by music and pop culture. Project Level seeks to harness this creative energy in a positive way, helping students leverage their talents and passions to be successful in both their future careers and in life. A groundbreaking, socially active nonprofit program for nurturing the creative needs of at-risk and underserved Bay Area inner-city youth, Project Level provides a safe experiential learning environment where youth can freely express themselves through the arts. Project Level expands and builds upon the typical music program by recruiting students from high school wellness centers, community programs and even guidance counselors and parole offices; identifying each student’s individual needs, interests and talents; and working together to set and achieve goals.

SPOTLIGHT ON LIFE LEARNING ACADEMY

“One thing that helped me a lot is when the students have an issue with each other, we’re pulled into the office and we talk. It made me feel relieved. I feel more in touch with my school and community.”

—Taliyah

Located on Treasure Island, Life Learning Academy (LLA) is a SFUSD charter high school serving 70 students (ages 14-18) involved or at-risk of involvement in the juvenile justice system and/or who have challenging life problems including school failure, family problems, poverty, abuse, gang involvement, and substance abuse. LLA opened a new onsite dormitory for 24 students who would otherwise be homeless or living in unsafe housing situations. LLA is the first public school in California to offer a no-fee home for students. LLA is committed to creating a nonviolent community for students who have not been successful in traditional school settings. LLA welcomes students into an ‘extended family’ which motivates everyone to give and receive support, develop responsibility and judgment, and build the academic, vocational and social skills necessary to be successful.

SPOTLIGHT ON POMEROY RECREATION & REHABILITATION CENTER

“ I was recruited at the Pomeroy Prom. We have a Prom every year open to the entire Bay Area Special Needs community. I enjoyed dancing with my friends and the limo ride around the lake. I started coming here after that. Everyone is nice to each other and treats one another like family. I feel like they trust me a lot, give me responsibilities, and I get to help my friends. ”

—JJ

The mission of Pomeroy Recreation & Rehabilitation Center is to provide recreational, vocational and educational opportunities for people with disabilities through programs and services that encourage self-expression, promote personal achievement, and lead to greater independence. Sensing Success is a program for children and youth with Autism and other developmental disabilities to learn to manage sensory information to improve behavior, concentration and their ability to learn. High school and transition students in Sensing Success gain job skills working at the Pomeroy Center while getting a paycheck at the same time. Student workers assist with event set up, gardening, recycling projects, and work at the center's annual Pumpkin Patch in October. These students also participate in social, artistic, and athletic activities offered at our center giving them a well rounded enriching experience.

SPOTLIGHT ON FRIENDSHIP HOUSE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN INDIANS

“The program provides a sense of family to me. I receive help with my homework. I use the computer and I learn more stuff. It brings comfort to my life. The people here inspire me, they help me see right from wrong. It makes me feel stronger in spirit because it helps me do better things.”

—Cosmo

Founded in 1963, the Friendship House Association of American Indians is a community-based organization serving American Indians based in the Mission District of San Francisco. Friendship House has helped more than 5,500 residential clients overcome substance abuse, empowered hundreds of youth, and provided community events for countless individuals and families. The Friendship House Youth Program (FHYP) is one of only a few organizations in the San Francisco Bay Area that provides community-centered and after-school activities, specifically geared to American Indian children, youth, young adults, and their families. The FHYP population of American Indian youth (ages 8-24) represent a diversity of distinct tribes and bands, but share a common experience of living in an urban environment. FHYP provides a broad range of activities and is focused on strong cultural identity, academic and career success, nutrition, and a healthy social environment.

SPOTLIGHT ON JAMESTOWN COMMUNITY CENTER

“ I’ve been at Jamestown since I was in kindergarten. The program has made an impact on me through extra help with my homework in reading and math, helping me get better grades in school. I love sports—I’m Latino, so I started playing soccer at first, and after I started finding out about basketball, football and all these other fun sports. ”

—Victor

Through transformative youth development services rooted in the cultural and artistic traditions of our communities, Jamestown Community Center accompanies youth and their families on their path to realize their full potential as powerful and healthy members of society. The programs include tutoring, before and after school academic enrichment, summer programs, social/emotional support, sports, youth workforce, parent leadership development and organizing, and Afro-Latino arts education and performance. The Jamestown Community Center and its partnering schools including Buena Vista Horace Mann, Cesar Chavez, James Lick and Longfellow proudly joined the San Francisco Beacon Initiative in 2018. Beacon Centers focus on bridging the gap between students, parents and their communities by bringing additional enrichment programs directly to school sites.

SPOTLIGHT ON REAL OPTIONS FOR CITY KIDS

“ R.O.C.K. has felt like family to me since 2nd grade. I struggled with doing my homework, they’d help me frequently and my grades improved. I’d finish homework, go outside and it was fun. I’d go out and play with people I didn’t know before. The program helped me get to know more people and do fun stuff like working in the garden.”

—Jaden

Real Options for City Kids (R.O.C.K.) provides positive opportunities for children and youth in San Francisco’s Visitation Valley. R.O.C.K. serves more than 600 participants (ages 6-17) with a framework that develops strong social and emotional skills, develops strong academic behaviors and broadens horizons. R.O.C.K.’s year-round programs include sports/fitness activities, academic support, learning enrichment, community service, outdoor adventures and leadership training. R.O.C.K.’s core programs include leading Beacon Centers at El Dorado Elementary School and Visitation Valley Middle School.

SPOTLIGHT ON PEER RESOURCES

“I’ve been able to shed light on breaking gender norms. Coming from a Samoan cultural home, the rules growing up can be challenging. Knowledge from Peer Resources opened up my perspective on how I see myself in the world and how I want to be as a human being.”

—Cheyanne

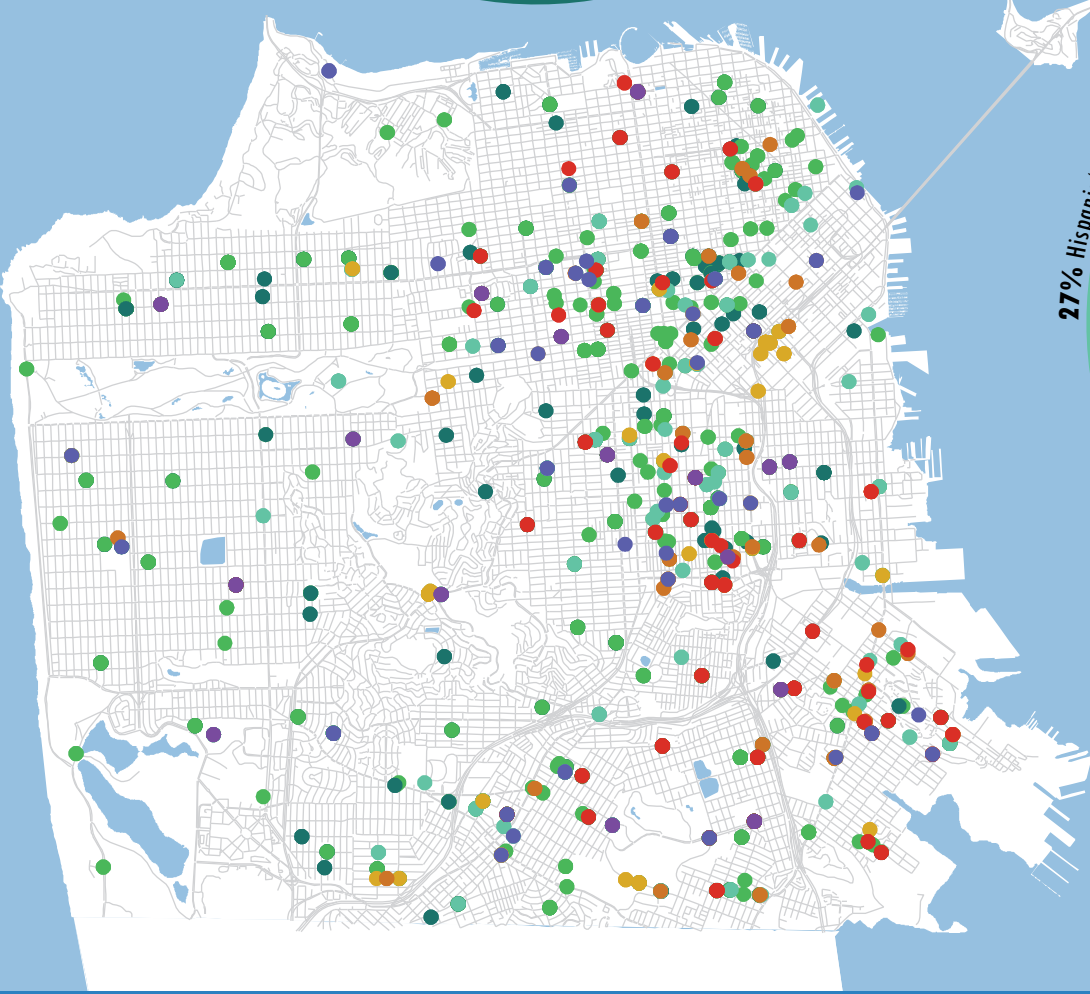

Peer Resources creates just change in our schools and communities through the leadership of young people supporting, training, and advocating for each other. The Peer Resources June Jordan School of Equity Educator Pathway provides a brighter future for today’s youth that means future teachers for the next generation. The Educator Pathway is an academic and career pathway across the entire JJSE school community. 9th graders receive leadership training from older peers in the pathway, 10th graders develop career awareness with Alumni Mentors, and 11th and 12th graders hone their skills as educator leaders through the academic pathway and work-based learning.

SPOTLIGHT ON GOOD SAMARITAN FAMILY RESOURCE CENTER

“ I came to San Francisco from Honduras 5 years ago. Mr. Victor told me about his cool program. It makes me happy because I got to meet new friends, new teachers and learn new things like biking and airbrushing. The program keeps us together; we go everywhere together and they care about all of us. When we’re doing something wrong, they guide us to do it the right way. ”
—Christian

The Good Samaritan Family Resource Center’s mission is to help vulnerable families, including immigrant families, access needed services, develop self-sufficiency, and participate fully as members of the SF community. Every day, they help striving immigrants and diverse families obtain the skills, support, and resources they need to overcome the challenges of poverty and displacement so, together, we can improve the world we share. Good Sam’s Immigrant Youth Summer Programs is an 8-week summer camp offering low-income, Latino youth (ages 6-14) fun and healthy outdoor education. The program builds relationships between newcomer and first generation youth, while offering access to nature, culturally relevant curricula, and experiential learning. Camps create a safe, age appropriate, and inclusive space where youth learn through literacy, SEL, arts, healthy nutrition, and physical activity.
